Lehman Demands 'True, Accurate' Realignment

Nazis Take Billion in Czech Cash

Economic Conquest Has Poured Nation's Gold
Into Reich in Period of 22 Months

Five Means Used German 'Carpenters' Have Used Methodical Procedure

Washington, Jan. 15 (AP)—Germany's economic conquest of Czechoslovakia has cost the Czechs "at least $1,000,000,000" since the "made-in-Munich" Nazi occupation 22 months ago, according to authoritative information received in diplomatic quarters here.

The reports, compiled by non-Czech sources say that the Germans also have imposed tribute taxes to assist in financing the Reich's war against Britain. The yield from this was estimated at an additional $100,000,000 annually.

(German troops invaded Czechoslovakia March 15, 1939, and divided the republic into the "protectorate" of Bohemia and Moravia, and the independent state of Slovakia. At the time the total population was 6,800,000.)

On the heels of the actual military occupation of the "protectorate," the reports said, an estimated 500,000 Nazis poured in and took over practically all key positions in government, industry and trade.

Nazi decrees enforced by these "brownshirt carpenters," the survey stated, have enabled German interests to completely dominate Czech banking, industry and commerce and reap handsome profits for Germany.

Method of Procedure
The economic shift of Czechoslovakia's resources from Czech to German ownership has been achieved, according to the report, by these means:

The Deutsche Bank and the Dresdener Bank took over Czechoslovakia's two dominant banking institutions, the Bohemian Union and Escompte Banks which, in turn, controlled a considerable number of business enterprises.

Through "aryanization" proceedings, similar to those decreed in Germany, all large Jewish-owned industries and companies were acquired, including the Sigmund Pump Works, one of the world's largest manufacturers specializing in poison gas.

Using German marks, German promissory notes, and Czech currency "borrowed" from the Czech National Bank or acquired in the previously annexed Sudeten region, German interests "purchased" all or the controlling interest in the nation's largest plants, factories, and businesses, including Bata, one of the world's greatest shoe factories, and Skoda, one of the world's largest munitions plants.

Transported to Germany
Movable property, needed or useful to Germany's military plans, valued at approximately 22,000,000 crowns (when the crown was worth roughly three cents) was "purchased" with marks or crowns, and transported to Germany. It included a vast amount of military arms, equipment and supplies gathered for Czechoslovakia's defense, doomed by the Munich conference. There was equipment enough to arm 1,500,000 men, and 1,500 planes.

Not "bought" or taken over has Nazi economic commissars making sure that its activities are conducted in accordance with German policies.

Suggests Two-Party Group To Draft Reapportionment

Ives Protests 'Tone' of Governor's Message and Accuses Lehman of 'Wanting to Make Politics' on Question of Seating

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 15 (AP)—Governor Lehman demanded of the Legislature today a "true and accurate" reapportionment of legislative and congressional districts to carry out constitutional provisions he said lawmakers have "callously violated" for years.

The governor, in his first regular message to the Legislature, said: "I will no longer countenance any attempts to withhold from any locality its just representation in the Legislature at Albany or at Washington no matter how difficult or objectionable it may be for any section now having more than its proper number of representatives to reduce that number."

He recommended immediate creation of a joint legislative committee equally representative of Republicans and Democrats to prepare bills for the reapportionment.

"Such a committee should be set up now, not at the end of this legislative session," Lehman said.

The governor pointed out state legislators are being chosen on district lines established in 1917 and congressmen on a basis established in 1911 and declared "there is no honest excuse for this situation."

"Time and again," he asserted, "I have sent messages to the Legislature urging reapportionment. No action has been taken. Partisan and political reasons controlled the actions of the Legislature and both parties are to blame."

Ives Objects
As soon as the message was read, Republican Assembly Leader Irving Ives protested the "tone" of the governor's request for immediate reapportionment and accused the executive of "wanting to make politics out of the question."

Ives announced that the Legislature "undoubtedly" would follow out a plan similar to the governor's suggestion but took exception to what he termed Lehman's "demanding insistence" for immediate action.

"We have heard a great deal about dictatorships and their procedures," Ives said.

"The very author of this message had considerable to say on the subject in his defense program. Yet when he says he will not countenance any delays, we have an executive sending to us a must message without any provocation."

"There is absolutely no excuse for this kind of message. For the sake of peace, good government and the preservation of democracy, this kind of business in New York state should cease."

Greeks Stop Two Italian Attacks In Mid-Albania

(By The Associated Press)

Greece's mountain fighters reported today they smashed two Italian counter-attacks in the drive north from Klisura, in central Albania, compelling the Fascists to retire in such haste they left dead and wounded on the battlefield. Then, the Greeks said, they resumed their advance toward Berat.

Bad weather caused a lull in the air siege of Britain during the night, but RAF bombers flew through "dirty" skies to pound Nazi air bases, shipping and a railway bridge in German occupied Norway. Two direct hits were reported on a motorship in Stavanger Roads, on the west coast.

A lone raider machine-gunned a village in northern Scotland today and dropped a single bomb. Planes were also reported over East Anglia.

Raiding Fascist Lines
Reports reaching Struga, Yugoslavia, said Albanian guerrillas were raiding Fascist lines of communication and ammunition depots, thus complicating the Italian efforts to stem the Greek advance.

Two Albanian battalions organized by Italians, were said to have been disbanded because they refused to fight the Greeks.

Off Montevideo, Uruguay, the British navy kept watch lest the French freighter Mendoza make a fourth attempt to put to sea with a cargo of food for blockaded France. The Mendoza turned back for the third time last night upon sighting the British auxiliary cruiser Asturias offshore.

Uruguayan authorities were presented with a new problem when a British navy seaplane, possibly attached to the cruiser Enterprise, ran out of fuel and made a forced landing in Maldonado harbor, near Montevideo.

The crew of three was detained pending a decision whether they should be interned.

Danny Attends in Casket
Clarksburg, W. Va., Jan. 15 (AP)—A week ago Mrs. Charles Domitrovich invited fourth grade school mates of her son, Danny, to attend his 10th birthday party today. Saturday night Danny was killed instantly in a coasting accident. Mrs. Domitrovich held the party anyway, with Danny's casket occupying the center of the living room.

CHICHESTER PLANT SOLD TO RADIO MANUFACTURER

Factory Soon Is to Be Active Again

Few buildings have been more important in any community than that of the former Schwarz-waelder plant at Chichester, shown above. Within the past two years it has meant both hope and sadness for the small mountain village, and now comes the best news since those first darker days. It will be operating soon as a factory manufacturing radio cabinets.

Dewey Will Seek Murder Writs for New York Gunmen

Pedestrians and Shoppers Join in Chase for Two Who Killed Policeman, Office Manager

New York, Jan. 15 (AP)—Less than 25 hours after two gunmen killed a patrolman and a civilian during a holdup and ensuing chase in the crowded midtown shopping area, two ex-convict brothers were indicted today for murder.

Two Are Held
New York, Jan. 15 (AP)—Authorities moved swiftly today against two ex-convict brothers who, with blazing guns, turned midtown Fifth avenue into a battleground and brought death to a policeman and an office manager in a $650 holdup yesterday.

Two other persons, a bank guard and a cab driver, were wounded and the crowded shopping center at 35th street and Fifth avenue terrorized by a fusillade of bullets as the robbers attempted to blast their way to safety.

The brothers first identified themselves as Angelo and Joseph De Stefano but a sister told police their names, William and Anthony Esposito, and that they had used her marriage surname as an alias. Both names were used in the police booking.

As reconstructed by police and witnesses, the action began at noon when one of the holdup pair shot and killed Alfred Klausman, general manager of Kemp and Beatley, Inc., a linen firm, in an elevator of his building on 34th street.

Fleeing with guns in hand, they dashed out into the street and raced through the B. Altman department store. Pedestrians and shoppers joined in a chase that led into a taxi and out, finally, into an F. W. Woolworth five-and-ten-cent store, where Anthony Esposito was captured.

The other brother had been shot as he fled along Fifth avenue and was released from Sing Sing prison four years ago in order to be deported.

How both were in the country was a mystery to police.

At this hearing the state public works plan met with opposition.

Farmers May Vote On Order Jan. 21

Three Ulster Polling Places Are Listed; Six States Will Cast Ballots

The second referendum in which dairy farmers in the New York milkshed may vote on proposed amendments to the federal milk marketing order is scheduled for January 21 in 411 polling places in six states, the Associated Press reports.

Whether the vote may be held, however, hinges on a decision expected tomorrow by Associate Justice Jennings Bailey in Washington District Court on a temporary injunction restraining the balloting as ordered by Agriculture Secretary Claude R. Wickard.

The injunction was obtained by the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association after Wickard called for the referendum. The amendments lost in the first vote, held recently.

Ulster polling places will be located in the following places: Accord, Reformed Church. Kingston, Farm Bureau office. Gardiner, Fire House.

B. P. W. to Survey Sidewalks, Take Some Photographs

Heiselman Says Purchase of Equipment Justified by Jump in Price; Scouts Get Date

A survey of the city's sidewalks in the business section to be followed by a city-wide sidewalk survey was ordered by the Board of Public Works at the regular monthly meeting Tuesday afternoon. The survey will be in charge of Acting Superintendent Max Oppenheimer, who was directed to take photographs of the more dangerous walks that were found.

Mayor C. J. Heiselman, who presided at the meeting, said that his judgment in requesting the purchase of additional equipment last year was justified by the fact that since then prices had jumped some $2,300 on the equipment purchased.

Old Cars and Mule Teams Meet Greek Transportation Problems

By J. WES GALLAGHER
With the Greek Army in Albania, Jan. 15 (AP)—Truck drivers with rickety old cars and farmers with teams of stubborn mules are meeting transportation problems as fantastic as any army ever faced to keep food and ammunition flowing to their comrades in the Greek front lines.

Day after day, this army of supply is getting through to the army of fighting men whose advances steadily lengthen the lines of communication north into Albania.

The determined men, the ancient trucks and the balky mules are doing their part in the deep mud, through mountains as wild as the American Rockies, in a country where the best roads are only "ruts frozen on the mountainsides."

The drivers are men like Mike. He is married, has one child, owns and operates two buses in peacetime, and has his own car, a 12-year-old American flyer.

Firm Will Turn Out Cabinets

Owners to Consolidate Brooklyn Businesses And Will Locate in Mountains

Outlook Brighter Between 50 and 60 Men Will Be Given Work at Opening

Again comes an awakening of hopes for an industry which has been the life of the village of Chichester.

Sale of the plant again Saturday to two Brooklyn men marks another turning point in a series of reverses which a few months ago looked like the final act in the drama of this mountain settlement. Now the wheels of the factory are scheduled to move again, possibly within four or five weeks, and this time it looks for certain as though Chichester has a future.

Radio cabinets will be made in the plant which first bore the name of Chichester, then Schwarz-waelder and was operated following the auction sale of last year by Willis Rappelyea of Lexington, Greene county.

At the time of the transaction Saturday the factory was owned by Isaac B. Levy, a lumber dealer of the township, who bought it from Mr. Rappelyea.

Will Combine Businesses
Its new owners are Messrs. Greco and Epstein, who now operate separate plants in Brooklyn, and have agreed to combine interests and operate the factory as a single firm.

They plan at first to employ from 50 to 60 men at the outset and later as many as 150 if that many are available in the region.

20 Are On Relief
Most of the former employees of the plant, it was learned today, have been unable to find employment anywhere near the village and it was reported that at least 20 were on relief.

News of the sale of the factory to owners of two established plants in Brooklyn therefore caused rejoicing among both former employees of the factory and merchants and other residents of the region.

One member of this new firm in his present plant in Brooklyn now employs 60 people and the other 40 and as a combined plant they (Continued on Page Nine)

Gives Long Statement To Congress

Tells Both Houses Nazi Victory Would Give U. S. Small Security Through Ocean

Denounces Japan Says New Order Would Lead to Impoverished Orient

Washington, Jan. 15 (AP)—Summoning the nation to "invoke the law of self-defense before it is too late," Secretary of State Hull urged upon congress today the enactment of legislation for unlimited supplies of war materials to Britain and other nations battling a "world movement of conquest."

Hull testified before the house foreign affairs committee in support of President Roosevelt's lease-lend bill. He was the first witness on this historic legislation and he expressed the belief it was "absolutely necessary" to the nation's defense.

In a statement of about 3,500 words he also said that if the Atlantic ocean fell "into German control" it would "offer little or no assurance of security."

"Were Britain defeated and were she to lose command of the seas," he said, "Germany could easily cross the Atlantic, especially the South Atlantic, unless we were ready and able to do what Britain is doing now."

Condemns Japan
Hull also took occasion to voice some of the strongest condemnation of the expansionist policies of Japan in the Far East which has been uttered by the administration.

"Among other things," he said, "Japan's new order would lead, economically, to 'impoverishment' of invaded parts of the Orient and, socially, to 'destruction of personal liberties and the reduction of the conquered peoples to the role of inferiors.'"

Pointedly he asserted that Germany, Japan and Italy had made unmistakably clear their intentions to "repudiate and destroy the very foundations of a civilized world order under law" and to conquer and establish "tyrannical rules over their victims."

When Hull finished the statement, committee members turned to questioning him and Rep. Luther A. Johnson (D-Tex.) asked whether a section of the president's lease-lend bill providing for repair of belligerent vessels, such as those of Britain, in United States ports, violated international law.

"Nothing but a realistic view of current developments can be regarded as a sane view," the white-haired Hull replied gravely.

"The question is whether in the face of a universally recognized movement or force to invade and conquer, peaceful nations shall wait until the invader crosses their boundary lines—or whether they shall recognize that this is a world movement of conquest and invoke the law of self defense before it is too late."

"That is the question," Hull declared emphatically. "We can take our choice."

Takes Up Law
To set forth fully his views on the question raised by Johnson, Hull took up one by one laws that might be involved and ended his discussion with the statement: "Only the law of self defense can be evoked from any practical viewpoint."

Among the laws he cited were the neutrality and Johnson acts. He said that they would be superseded by the President's proposals.

The Hague convention of 1907 also would not apply, he testified, because it was "not applicable to the present European war" since by its terms it is inoperative unless all belligerents are parties to it.

It was Rep. Johnson also who asked whether in the secretary's judgment the lend-lease bill was "absolutely necessary to the defense of the United States."

Hull said he had "very unwillingly been driven to the conclusion" that it was.

At another point, he stated his belief that "the most practical force in prosecuting steps in our national defense is not merely to arm at home, but if and when we see a country resisting the same movement, which probably would be headed straight for South America, we would not command the disrespect of the invader if he sees we are taking steps to resist (Continued on Page Nine)

New England's Grip

Is Reported on Wane

Boston, Jan. 15 (AP)—A wave of the grip that caused Holy Cross College and scores of schools to suspend classes and confined tens of thousands of students and workers to their homes was reported "generally on the wane" today in New England.

A "downward trend" was noted by Dr. G. Lynde Gately, health commissioner of Boston, where as many as 18,000 children were absent from school at one time last week because of the illness. The number of absentees was reduced by several thousands yesterday.

Gately said recent cold weather and sunshine would have a tendency to further reduce the number of cases.

ULSTER COUNTY COMMITTEE ON TUBERCULOSIS AND PUBLIC HEALTH
74 John street Kingston, N. Y.
To the Editor
Kingston Daily Freeman,
Kingston, New York

Dear Editor:

Our sincere thanks to the Kingston Daily Freeman for the generous and valuable help given to the Ulster County Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health during the Christmas Seals Sale of 1940.

To the many individuals and organizations, who have worked so faithfully for the success of the sale, I extend heartfelt thanks.

Each year in our campaign it is our aim to call to the attention of the public the menace of tuberculosis and ways and means of prevention as well as cure. Without your co-operation this could not have been attained.

Although we still have some outstanding letters, returns of which we need to meet our quota, the response has been most gratifying.

We are always proud of the fact that Ulster county bears the reputation through the state and national tuberculosis associations of being one of the outstanding organizations in the tuberculosis program and Christmas Seals Sale.

We know that you enjoy being a partner in this important defense program and we are most grateful to you for your help and support.

Sincerely yours,
JOSEPH M. FOWLER,
President

Case Dismissed In Local Court

Decision Is Given After Testimony Is Taken

An action brought by Helen Lind of Ellenville against William E. and Jennie Nathan, owners of a property on Center street, which was taken up for trial in supreme court Tuesday, was dismissed by the court at the conclusion of the plaintiff's case on motion of Roscoe V. Elsworth, counsel for defendants.

Mrs. Lind claimed damages for injuries suffered by her in a fall on a stairway leading to the premises which she and her husband rented from the defendants. By the testimony it appeared that the stairway leading to the second floor and upon which she fell, was used only by the Lind household and was not a public stairway used by any other tenant in the property.

Plaintiff had contended that the stairway was a public entrance and should have been lighted by the landlord in the dark hours. The testimony, however, indicated that the stair was a private entrance to the apartment which Lind rented and that it was under his control and a part of the premises rented from the defendants and therefore its proper maintenance was up to the tenant and not the owner.

There was an electric light outlet at the stair but it was not in order at the time of the accident in April, 1929.

Mr. Elsworth moved for a dismissal of the complaint at the close of plaintiff's case on the grounds the plaintiff had not shown negligence on the part of the owners and had failed to make a case. Justice Schirick granted the motion. Lounsberry & Lounsbury appeared for the plaintiff.

James Joyce Is Buried

Zurich, Switzerland, Jan. 15 (AP)—James Joyce, the author of "Ulysses" who died Sunday, was buried today on Zurichberg Mountain. There was no religious service. Joyce, who was reared in the Roman Catholic faith, left the church as a youth. Dr. Heinrich Straumann, professor of English at Zurich University, said in a eulogy that the Irish novelist ranked "among the immortals." "Five years of blindness," he said, "endowed Joyce with a vision of things unseen that first gave birth to 'Ulysses' and then to his masterpiece 'Finnegans Wake.'"

Vacancy Elections

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 15 (AP)—Governor Lehman today designated February 18 for special elections to fill two vacancies in the State Senate. Electors will select successors to: Senator Philip M. Kleinfeld, who resigned as representative of the fourth senatorial district to become a State Supreme Court Justice. Assemblyman Carmine J. Marasco, 16th Assembly district, who will seek the nomination to replace Kleinfeld. The late Assemblyman Denton D. Lake of Gloversville, Fulton-Hamilton district.

Lehman Demands True Realignment

Leader Irwin Steingut denied the governor was "playing politics." "What is this new nonsense about dictatorship?" he asked. "Who ever heard of a dictator urging the legislature to give the people fair representation?"

Steingut insisted immediate action is necessary to complete reapportionment in 1942 and added "this is no time for speech making."

The governor sent lawmakers 1940 census figures and other reapportionment data he obtained from the United States department of commerce. "It is my hope that members of the committee will not attempt to preserve for a political party any unfair advantage by continuation of the existing inequitable districts or by manipulation of boundaries or gerrymandering of districts," he told the legislature. "Reapportionment should be carried out in strict accordance of provisions of our constitution."

Meantime, influential Republicans withheld official comment on legislation proposed in Lehman's annual message yesterday, but privately expressed belief many measures defeated in the past would again be rejected.

"There certainly is no reason to believe," said one leader, "that the party will suddenly turn about face on these proposals."

Among the governor's recommendations slated for opposition, Republicans said, is a proposed constitutional amendment dedicating power resources of the St. Lawrence and Niagara rivers to public use. The proposal was defeated by a state constitutional convention in 1938 and by the last legislature.

Similar action was prophesied on the governor's fifth successive request for creation of state-regulated mortgage banks, and for adding a advisory council for youth in the executive department.

Republican sources also expressed doubt sufficient votes could be obtained to pass the governor's proposals calling for abolition of blue ribbon juries and empowering the Court of Appeals to remove unfit judicial officers instead of the legislature or senate as at present.

Republicans asserted, however, the governor's suggestion to transform the state planning council into a division of industry and planning to develop business would be "thoroughly studied."

The same sources predicted "some action will be taken" in behalf of Lehman's requests for legislation reducing interest rates for small borrowers, and regulation of sub-metering companies selling electricity purchased from utilities.

Gilroy Is Nominated

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 15 (AP)—Governor Lehman nominated today, J. Herbert Gilroy, Utica, to the State Supreme Court in the eighth judicial district. The appointment, to fill a vacancy caused by elevation of Edmund H. Lewis, Syracuse, to the State Court of Appeals, went to the Senate for confirmation. The governor also sent to the Senate the nominations of David Diamond, Buffalo, and Cornelius J. Smyth, New York city, to Supreme Court vacancies in the eighth and first judicial districts, respectively. Diamond succeeds the late Bertram E. Harcourt and Smyth replaces the late Thomas F. Noonan. Diamond and Gilroy will receive $15,000 annually and Smyth $25,000.

Verdicts Given

Verdicts totaling $8,790.75 were returned this afternoon in three negligence actions tried in Supreme Court today. All actions were undefended. Charles Signor of Cottekill was awarded $7,752.50, Louis Sanford was awarded $527.50 and Frank Markle was awarded $510.75 for injuries and damage to his car. The actions were against Marvin Keener and Floyd Linsley and grew out of a crash near the Rosendale bridge on route 32 in December, 1939, when the Keener car collided with the Markle car. William A. Kaercher appeared for the plaintiffs. Court recessed until Monday at 10 o'clock.

Three Negligence Actions Started

Accident Happened in '39 on Rosendale Road

Three negligence actions growing out of a collision between two cars on December 29, 1939, at the entrance to the Kristic Farm and Route 32 at Rosendale, were tried this morning in supreme court before Justice Schirick and a jury. There was no defense.

William A. Kaercher of Flanagan and Kaercher appeared for the plaintiffs. Peter H. Harp was attorney of record for the defendants but made no appearance.

Frank Markle was driving his car from the Kristic Farm entrance to Route 32 when he claimed a Ford car of Marvin Keener and driven by Floyd Linsley coming from the direction of Kingston struck the Markle car as it entered the main highway.

Markle said he stopped at the entrance and looked both ways but saw no car in view. The Keener car apparently was approaching over the Rosendale bridge some 75 feet away at the time but was not visible, he said.

Claiming the Keener car was being driven at a fast rate of speed, he said he was unable to get his car out of the path of the approaching machine and his car was struck on the left side and damaged to the extent of $435.75. He was slightly injured but did not require medical care. The Terraplane was badly damaged.

With him was Charles Signor of Cottekill, 66 years old, who suffered a fractured knee cap and broken ribs. He was engaged in the poultry business but sold his business after the accident when he was unable to attend to it. He has a stiff knee which he said prevented him from working. His hospital bill was $152.50 and his doctor's bill $100.

The third passenger injured was Louis Sanford, also of Cottekill who is a retired police officer. He was struck from the right side of the car to the left against a window which broke and injured his ear. He testified he was unable to hear with his left ear and also suffered an injury to his hip. His doctor's bills were $27. Dr. Shay testified that his hearing had been permanently impaired.

A counter-claim brought by the defendant was dismissed by Justice Schirick. The case was submitted to the jury just before noon.

Navy Asks Power, Facilities to Build 400 Small Ships

Washington, Jan. 15 (AP)—The navy asked Congress today for authority to build 400 small vessels, including sub chasers, mine sweepers and torpedo boats, and asked also for extra facilities to construct them.

Rear Admiral Samuel M. Robinson, chief of the bureau of ships, informed the House naval committee that 280 of the vessels were "urgently needed" and that Congress would be asked immediately for $310,460,000 for their construction and armament and $25,000,000 for expansion of building facilities.

The bulk of the small craft, which would be completed in a year, would be constructed on the Great Lakes.

The 280 vessels include 36 165-foot seagoing chasers for use as escort vessels; 30 110 foot wooden sub chasers; 24 motor torpedo boats; 18 165-foot mine sweepers; 32 fleet mine sweepers; 90 motor mine sweepers and 50 coastal mine sweepers.

Earlier in its session, the committee unanimously endorsed the navy's request for a $300,000,000 strengthening of the fleet's anti-aircraft power.

About the Folks

Members of the board of directors of the State of New York National Bank were guests of President John H. Saxe Tuesday at dinner at McCabe's Restaurant following the annual meeting of the bank held at noon.

South Has Flu Cases

Atlanta, Jan. 15 (AP)—Tens of thousands of southerners were abed today with a mild form of influenza and schools were closed in scores of rural communities. Because of the mildness of the disease—only two deaths were attributed to it in recent days—and the resultant lack of full reports from physicians, it was impossible to estimate accurately the number stricken. Restrictions were placed on public gatherings in Spartanburg, S. C., where 15,000 cases were reported and in the Kingsport, Tenn., area some drug stores remained open 24 hours a day.

Chimney Fire

Promptly summoning the Accord fire department yesterday when a chimney fire was discovered in the cellar of his house, William Sondack prevented serious damage to the house on the Berne road. The members of the fire department under Chief Howard Anderson made a record run over icy roads along the mountain road. The fire was confined to the portion of the house about the chimney.

Vacancies Listed

According to the local recruiting office there are still vacancies in the following: Air Corps, Barksdale, Field, La., Albany, Ga., and Elgin Field, Fla., in the ordnance company, Wheeler Field in Hawaii; and the medical attachment at Mitchell Field in New York. Vacancies are also in the First Division of New York City in the 18th, 26th and 16th Infantry.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 15 (AP)—A setback from the recent upswing carried the stock market down another notch today before the list steadied.

Leading issues were off fractions to around 2 near the final hour but trading shrank to the smallest of the new year.

Transactions were at the rate of only about 450,000 shares for a full session.

Speculative support seemed limited on the assumption the trend had shifted to the downside for a change.

Off fractions to around 3 at one time were du Pont, Douglas Aircraft, International Business Machines, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Union Pacific, Chrysler, American Can and Bethlehem.

Scattered issues went up on selective demand, notably U. S. Industrial Alcohol, General Textiles Equipment and Associated Dry Goods Second Preferred.

A big jump in hog prices again diverted attention to the rising trend of commodities since defense spending hit a rapidly increasing pace. The upturn in livestock was ascribed partly to growing employment in war industry and in military forces of the nation.

Major staples traded in futures markets held better than stocks. So did corporate bonds generally, although many were subjected to profit-taking after last week's sharp advance.

In an uneven curb list, prices were down a bit for American Gas & Electric, Fairchild Engine and Sherwin Williams. Balancing losses were small gains in Aluminum of America, Gulf Oil and New Jersey Zinc.

A man feeling a bit fed-up with life decided to commit suicide by hanging himself. A friend came into the room and discovered him standing with a rope around his waist, and inquired what he was trying to do. The man told him he was taking his own life.

Friend—But, why have you the rope around your waist?

The Man—Well, when I tried it around my neck it nearly choked me.

A woman's idea of a fifty-fifty split, is for her husband to give her half his money and then pay all the bills.

Always use tact in criticizing the food.

Briggs (as he began to tackle the leg of a chicken)—Of course, I may be wrong, but it strikes me that this chicken—

Landlady (snapping)—Well, and what's the matter with the chicken?

Briggs (shrugging his shoulders)—Oh, nothing—nothing. I was going to say it was quite evident that the bird was an offspring of a hard-boiled egg.

A teacher was giving a lesson on the circulation of the blood. Trying to make the matter clearer, he said:

Teacher—Now, boys, if I stood on my head the blood, as you know, would run into it, and I should turn red in the face.

Boys—Yes, sir.

Teacher—Then why is it that while I am standing upright in the ordinary position the blood doesn't run into my feet?

Little Fellow (shouting)—'Cause your feet ain't empty.

Some like to sing, some like to dance,

Some even like to take a chance,

Some like to laugh, some like to weep,

Jimmie—A rubber neck.

Teacher—No. Its a neck running out to sea.

Jimmie—That's a rubber neck, isn't it?

Why not smile on Monday morning, too?

Chronic Grumbler—Here, waiter, what are these chops—lamb or pork?

Waiter—Can't you tell by the taste, sir?

Chronic Grumbler—No.

Waiter—Well, then, what difference does it make?

Troubles

The happiest and most efficient people in the world are those who accept some measure of trouble as a normal detail of life.

But they don't cry about it...They try to capitalize on trouble when it comes their way...Trials can also be opportunities...

Beautiful—I don't know what's the matter with that little man over there. He was so attentive a few moments ago and now he won't even look at me.

Not So Dumb—Perhaps he saw me come in. He's my husband!

Divine Love Heals

Love is unselfish, seeks not its own.

Blesses the multitude, labors alone

Love grows by exercise, knows what to do,

Works with serenity, smiles upon you.

Love still begets love, stops evil's tongue,

Love is a healing power, balm for the soul.

Humbly it waits and serves; love makes you whole.

By ALLEN EPPES

YESTERDAY: Two things have postponed David and Polly's wedding—the fact that David now must care for his 9-year-old cousin Peter, and the fact that Margo Powers is back in town. Polly insists that since Margo is the daughter of David's boss, he should be nice to her. But she conceals a jealousy that David's date, tonight, with Margo dares to ally. David is showing Margo the old end of his aunt left him.

Chapter 13

The Fall Of David

"THE Inn is all of that," said David. "But it's also a great burden. Taxes, repairs—things like that." He laughed. "But you wouldn't know about such things."

Margo turned to him. Her eyes were luminous, her mouth inviting. She stepped and touched David's cheek.

"I know people who would give a lot for a tan like yours," she said. "Golden brown—smooth—"

"Margo, listen, I—I—" David began.

And then Margo was in his arms. She was clinging to him. He was kissing her, on the eyelids, on the mouth; kissing her with a sort of wild abandon he had never known he was capable of, holding her to him, close—close—

"David—David—" Margo said.

In a flash David had released her. He took a step backward. It was as though he had suddenly awakened.

"Gosh!" he said.

"Don't look so scared," Margo said, smiling. "I wanted you to kiss me."

"You did?"

"Of course. And you do it amazingly well, too—for a young man who's lived in Ardendale all of his life."

"Then you're not angry?"

"I should say not! I—I liked it. Didn't you?"

"Why, er—yes," said David. "I did."

"Then there's nothing to worry about!" said Margo. She began doing things to her hair. "I'm beginning to feel that even a war can do good. It was the war that sent me home to Ardendale, and in Ardendale I found you."

David could think of nothing to say. He was too busy thinking about Polly. Engaged to Polly, and kissing Margo. What's more, enjoying kissing her! What in heck could a fellow make out of that?

Did it mean that a man could want to marry one girl, and yet enjoy playing around with a girl he had no intention of marrying? He was almost confused. He almost loathed himself. This was the first time in ages he had had a date with any girl but Polly—and look at him! Acting like one of those promiscuous, necking college fellows he had heard so much about. Being cheap. Being unfaithful to Polly.

"Come on," he said with sudden gruffness. "Let's get back to town."

"But it's not terribly late," said Margo. "I've stayed out later than this many a night."

"Well, I haven't!" David retorted. "Besides, I've got to get up in the morning and go to work."

Margo looked at him. She smiled.

"Dear, darling David," she said very softly. "He does take himself so seriously."

She took his arm.

They moved down the path to the yellow roadster. And this time Margo forgot all about the dew. And David forgot all about those paces he was going to take, to see how much pipe he would need...

Hitch In The Plan

MARGO POWERS had counted on that evening with David being a sort of delightful prelude to many other evenings with him, but it didn't work out that way. Not at all.

A week passed, and she heard nothing from him. He didn't come near her nor did he telephone. It upset her at first, and then it annoyed her. She found herself growing more and more restless, thinking of him steadily—more steadily than she had ever thought of any other man she had known. She fought a mounting temptation to get into her car and drive to the lumber plant to see him.

She remembered something young Doctor Warren McNeill had said to her: Warren, the man she had met in Paris, and who had come back to America on the same boat as the man who had asked her to marry him and settle down in the small town where he planned to practice.

"One of these days," were his words, "you'll feel about someone as I feel about you, Margo. Then perhaps you'll grow up."

She had laughed at him, and said: "You're sweet, Warren, but much too serious about this love business."

"Love is a serious business," he had retorted, smiling.

"Is it?" she said. "Then perhaps that's why I just can't say I'll marry you and bury myself in an obscure little town—playing the part of a doctor's wife."

"You're planning to bury yourself in a little town in the South, aren't you?"

"No, I'm not going to be buried there. I'm going to visit. I can pick up and leave whenever I feel like it. I couldn't pick up and leave if we were married to you."

"But you'll think over my proposal, won't you, Margo? Perhaps distance and absence will work in my favor."

"A girl always thinks about her first proposal, Warren. But marriage is such a definite thing; and one ought to be very, very sure before going into it."

"I know. That's why I want you to be sure," Warren had taken her hands then, as they were standing on the deck of the liner. "I'll be in your part of the country one of these days. I'll be on, and I'm going to drop in on you. At least I'll see what you look like in a small town setting."

"Do that!" she had said. "I'd like to see you again—sometime, Warren." She had let him kiss her, and hadn't found it in the least unpleasant. "Since you seem to have a weakness for little towns, you might like Ardendale."

"I know I'd like it, if you were there," was Warren's reply. "Maybe it's hard for you to understand, Margo, but I think there's been too much specializing among the medical profession. I think the time is ripe for the old fashioned family doctor; you know, the sort of practitioner who ministers to all of his patients' needs. This business of sending a patient to one doctor for his liver, another for his tummy, and another for his rheumatism, and so on, and so on, is not only hard on the patients' physical being, but on his pocketbook as well."

"But," she had asked, "don't doctors like that usually end up penniless? Don't they usually die and leave nothing to their families but a lot of unpaid bills?"

"Not all of them," said Warren.

"So many patients have a way of trotting to their doctor with a lot of nonsense, use up his time, take advantage of his learning, and then ignore his monthly statements."

Warren had smiled at her—that oddly crooked and fascinating smile which had first seen in a sidewalk cafe.

"There's quite a lot of truth in all you say," he replied. "But I'm willing to gamble."

She had stepped back, looked him squarely in the face, and said: "Well, I'm afraid I'm not willing."

Capitulation

NO, she had thought later in her cabin, she wasn't the type to become the wife of a doctor, especially one who was content to work for practically nothing in a dull little town. She needed gaiety, lots going on around her. And yet, here she was now, pinning over a young man in a small town. Pinning over David, and remembering what Warren had said.

She began pacing the floor of her large, cool bedroom. Then suddenly she whirled about and went to her clothes closet. She had made up her mind. Nobody could neglect her and get away with it, least of all a young man who worked for her father.

If David wouldn't come to her, she would go to him, and to heck with pride. It was Saturday afternoon, and David would probably be putting about the house somewhere, if he wasn't doing things out at the Inn.

No matter where he was, she would find him.

She got into pale blue slacks, a white sweater, sandals, which she wore without stockings, tied a narrow blue ribbon about her hair to keep it out of her eyes and left the house. A few moments later she was honking her horn in front of David Wiley's cottage. There was no answer. The place looked deserted.

She drove on, heading out toward the old Inn.

That's where she would find him, she decided.

She remembered the moonlit Inn, the solitude, David standing so close to her; his kiss, the feeling that she had experienced of being utterly alone with him in a world made just for them.

And while she sped on toward Freddy's Folly, David and Peter and Polly, already there, were talking excitedly. They stood on the edge of the swimming pool, moved a net which she had filled with water from the spring.

"Look!" said Peter. "It's nearly half full!"

"Oh, David," said Polly. "It's wonderful! Just think, we can have all the swims we want, from now on."

"Sure, Sweetness," said David. He put an arm about each of the two there with him, drew them close to him.

"Maybe Freddy's Folly isn't going to be such a white elephant, after all," Polly went on. "Any way, it'll pay us some dividends in the pleasure we get out of the pool."

"Right!" said David. "Everything's hunky-dory, unless, maybe, the drainage—But I'll get that going in a few days."

"Of course!" said Polly. "You can't get everything perfect all at once."

"And you sure worked hard, Cousin David," Peter said. "Every evening this week—getting those old pipes fixed, and everything. Gosh, look! Oh, boy, see that old water pouring!"

The three of them watched it for a time without speaking.

"I wish I'd thought to bring along our bathing suits," David said presently. "But I wasn't sure we'd get the pool filled in time. Looks now like it'll be all set for use in no time at all."

"I brought them," said Peter. To be continued

HELD IN SLAYING

William G. Redcay (right), 23-year-old truck driver of Union Grove, Pa., was held in the hammer slaying of Robert R. Hackman, 19, son of a Dunkard minister, during a quarrel over a girl. Young Hackman's body was found near Ephrata, Pa. The Hackmans live on a farm at Lincoln, near Ephrata. Here Redcay is led away from the scene by an unidentified state policeman.

Clergys' Visits to Sick
Called Only 'Pink Pills'

Philadelphia, Jan. 15 (AP)—The casual visit of the clergyman to the sick room is only a "spiritual pink pill," a number of religious leaders agreed today.

"Some of us think that it is such a horrible travesty on the relationship of Christianity and medicine that we would rather not have it done at all," declared the Rev. Seward Hiltner of the Federal Council of Churches' Department of Religion and Health.

He was one of several speakers yesterday at a seminar during the National Christian Mission, whose week-long sessions are being conducted by 30 outstanding churchmen.

"Some ministers," he asserted, "are in the hospitals merely as visitors. They do not go over cases with the doctors. They walk in, say a prayer and walk out."

"We want ministers to work hand in hand with the doctors. More doctors would be interested if we did that."

Seminar participants agreed that their part in healing should be in aiding relief of mental distress.

'Stiff Neck' Loose Raton, N. M. (AP)—"My neck's a little stiff," complained D. B. Boyd as he walked into the office of Dr. H. E. Donovan. "It's got good reason to be," reported the doctor, after examination. "It's broken." Boyd, a volunteer fireman, said a heavy door slammed against him while he was fighting a blaze. He nursed his injured neck 10 days before consulting Dr. Donovan. Now it's a month or six weeks in the hospital.

"Why Do We Love the Paper, All?"

THOMAS WOLFE

(1900-1938)

"How often have we read the paper!

How often have we seen it blocked against our doors!

Little route-boys fold and block it, so to throw it—and so we find it and unfold it, crackling and ink-laden, at our doors.

Sometimes we find it tossed there lightly with flat

plap; sometimes we find it thrown with solid, whizzing whack against the clapboards; sometimes servants find just freshly folded sheets laid neatly down in doorways, and take them to the table for their masters. No matter how it got there, we always find it.

How we do love the paper! How we do love the paper, all!

Why do we love the paper? Why do we love the paper, all?

Mad masters, I will tell ye why.

Because the paper is 'the news', and we love the smell of news..."

College Women Hear Party Is Given Joseph Block Speaks Rev. and Mrs. Cole

At the January meeting of the Kingston College Women's Club Tuesday evening held at the First Reformed Church, M. Joseph Block spoke on "Seeing South America." Throughout his address the Kingston High School faculty member not only described the wonders of beauty in this land but also described the importance of vital problems which confront it.

Although the United States has done much to improve the friendliness between the South American countries and this country, Mr. Block said that he felt that the United States has been slow in making the most of its opportunities. To illustrate his point the speaker told of a small Peruvian newspaper which isn't pro-American, pro-Nazi or pro-Fascist. Instead, the editor is merely one who is anxious to make full use of all foreign news services.

Mr. Block said the United States news service is received at the office of this newspaper only once a month while the British service reaches its office twice during the month, the Italian news every week. And the German press sends its news there every week.

The speaker said he feels better understanding should be made of the Spanish temperament. Mr. Block, advocating "cooperation," noted that although the Latin countries are under a form of dictatorship, this form is far from the kind seen in the European nations.

The next meeting of the club will be held Tuesday evening, February 11, when the annual banquet will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel. W. J. Duffield of the New York Times will be guest speaker. Other important announcements were made preceding Mr. Block's talk. The Current Events group will meet with Miss Hull on Monday, January 27, while on February 5, Mrs. Rose K. Witter will be the hostess to the Back Group. "For Whom the Bell Tolls" and "Slave Girl" will be discussed by the group at that time.

Following the meeting last night the group enjoyed a social hour. These acting as hostesses were Mrs. Paul Perlman, chairman; Miss Nellie Davenport, Mrs. Bertha Deniston, Miss Ada S. Fuller, Mrs. Herbert Fister, Dr. Elizabeth Moore, Miss Dorothy DuMont, Mrs. Mortimer Downer, Miss Helen Durly, Miss Isabelle Malone, Miss Miriam Mann, Miss Mary E. Noone, Miss Gertrude Somes, Mrs. J. Rabin and Mrs. Rose K. Witter.

EMILY POST DISAGREES WITH HUSBAND WHO WANTS WIFE TO WRITE WOMAN WHO SAVED HIS LIFE IN ACCIDENT

Wife Does Write and Answer Invitations But He Should Personally Thank Stranger for Her First Aid

The wife does write their invitations, answer invitations sent to them, and write their thank-you notes, but under all ordinary conditions she does not otherwise write her husband's letters. While unusual, the following situation illustrates the secondary part she takes when the obligation is his and not hers:

"Some time ago my husband was in an automobile accident, and a lady living near the scene of the accident saved his life by her knowledge of first aid. My husband has recovered and he now feels that we should do something about thanking this kind lady. He even talks of buying a present for her. But he thinks since he is a married man, all this should be done by me for him! On the other hand, I think he is the one to write, including my appreciation with his of course, and I can't imagine what kind of present would be suitable for strangers to send her."

I agree that he is the one to write and include you in his thanks rather than the other way around. If he has been laid up a long while, you might have written a note to express your own gratitude until he could do something himself. But now that he is able to go out, I think you and he together should go to see this person and thank her. Kindness as impossible to value as hers, can not possibly be requited with however many dollars you may happen to spend. If I were you I should send her the loveliest flowers I could afford to buy. I think I should send them after the visit. I would not suggest giving her a present—unless her conversation suggests something definite to you.

Mother Is Right!

Dear Mrs. Post: Mother thinks when a boy who has driven me home walks up to the door with me that I should say good night and go inside the house immediately before he turns to go back to his car. I think that looks rude and feel that as long as he walks with me to the front door, I should at least wait to go inside until he drives away in the car. Which of us is right?

Answer: Your mother! She is right in this absolutely. Standing at the door watching him get into his car is "longing looking" of the same variety as standing out at the curb watching for him to drive up. Nor is it proper to stand at the door of your house saying a dragged out good night.

Social Obligations

Dear Mrs. Post: If one sends regrets immediately when invited to a party, does that cancel one's indebtedness to that hostess, or does her invitation, regardless, create an obligation?

Answer: Her invitation creates the obligation; if you regard it as such, or to put it more accurately, her invitation cancels her obligation (if there was one to you).

Rod Sagendorf Leads DUSO League Scorers With 36 Points

Locals Will Meet Monticello Friday At City Auditorium

Monties and Middletown Are Tied for First Place; Finn Trails Sagendorf With 30 Points

Action in the DUSO Basketball League Friday evening will be centered in the activities at the municipal auditorium when Monticello tangles with Kingston High. Game time is 8:15 o'clock.

With the first round of the league nearing its completion—two more games after Friday's—Monticello cannot take life too easy. In three games to date the Monties appear to have that certain something and will undoubtedly show plenty of it against Kingston.

Since the campaign began, Monticello has beaten Liberty, 25-24, Ellenville, 28-16 and Newburgh by 25-24. Remaining games include Kingston, Middletown and Port Jervis. The Monties are not underestimating Kingston and Port but are collecting all possible strength for their battle with Middletown next week. The winner of this important encounter will surely emerge victorious in the first half of the DUSO League.

Meanwhile, the Maroon and White cagers have nothing of particular in view as far as winning the initial half is concerned. Two more victories—Monticello and Newburgh—would be very welcome but at that the standings wouldn't favor the Kiamen unless a miracle happened to the present league-leaders.

Maroon Improves

Kingston has improved considerably since losing two games to Middletown and Port Jervis. Triumphs over Liberty and Ellenville prove this. However, both the Redskins and the mountaineers haven't too powerful teams.

While Monticello and Kingston settle down to prepare for Friday's engagement at the auditorium one of the cagers of these schools, Rod Sagendorf of Kingston has jumped into the lead of the scorers.

In his first year with the Kiamen-coached team Sagendorf has already showed lots of promise for the future. Rod has tallied 36 points so far as he may turn out to be the final winner of the first points scored. In the first ten scorers Kingston has placed Sagendorf, Mathers, Luedtke and Ball, all new to varsity work.

Sagendorf passed Frankie Finn of Liberty last week by collecting a high total of 36 to Finn's 30. Both have appeared in four games. Rankell of Monticello has scored 25, Pilus of Newburgh 23, Coppelitti of Newburgh 23, and Lepke of Ellenville 22.

Following are the complete scorers to date as tabulated by The Freeman sports staff:

Maroon Scores Win Over Po'keepsie Cagers, 35-29

McConnell's Fine Playing Helps Local Quintet to Register Big Upset; Sagendorf Gets 10

The uphill climb of Kingston High School's basketball continued Tuesday afternoon in Poughkeepsie as the Maroon and White cagers rallied in the fourth period to defeat Coach Sammy Kalloch's club by 35 to 29.

Trailing the Bridge City tossers for three periods the locals finally found themselves in the final period with the aid of Dick McConnell and breezed through with a much-earned triumph. Previous to yesterday's defeat the Kallochs had won 12 straight games and for most of the game it appeared as though victory No. 13 was assured.

Doug Mathers shoved Kingston into the lead by dropping in a field. Sagendorf, Ball and McConnell followed with shots sandwiched in with Mosher's foul shot, making the score 35 to 29 for Kingston and a victory for the Kiamen.

It was another big day for Kingston's new stars. Rod Sagendorf, leader in the DUSO League scoring, chucked in 10 points. Mathers collected eight. Bill Strubel gave good indications of his return to form by collecting seven.

Not only was it a triumph for the Maroon but a time of good cheer. Word was announced that Eddie Allen, capable forward, would be ready to see action in the near future. Allen hasn't been in a single game so far.

The scores: Kingston (35)—Ball 5, Sagendorf 10, Mathers 8, McConnell 4, Luedtke 1, Strubel 7. Poughkeepsie (29)—Dallao 8, Denton 0, Hempe 0, Mosher 10, Scheer 0, McCombs 0, Monahan 6, Whalen 0, Sikko 5, Knickerbocker 0, Lawson 0, Brower 0. Score at the half 22-20.

Sportsmen's Club to Hold Annual Meeting Thursday

Yearly Session to Be Held At Hotel Eichler; Guests Will Be Present to Give Interesting Speeches

The annual meeting of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county will be held Thursday evening at the Hotel Eichler on Railroad avenue at 7:30 o'clock, when officers for the ensuing year will be chosen. There will also be a brief business session, followed by the showing of movies and several addresses.

Harry Tisch, well known big game hunter and sportsman of Greene county will be one of the guests.

Mr. Tisch is a past president of the Greene County Federation, president of the Greene County Sportsmen's Club, and one of the best known sportsmen in this section of the state. He not only hunts but is one of the best amateur motion picture photographers in the state.

Through the efforts of Nelson W. Snyder, president of the Ulster County Fish and Game Association, Tisch has consented to bring some of his pictures and show them at the meeting. One will be his trip to Newfoundland after caribou. This picture is in technicolor and shows them hunting the caribou and many interesting things pertaining to the inhabitants of this island.

In addition to Tisch, Dave O'Neil, president of the Putnam County Federation and director of the New York State Conservation Council, and Mr. Bromley, field superintendent of the Conservation Department, will be present. It is likely that Dave will tell something about what the lower part of the state is doing to preserve the fishing rights in the New York city watershed, and Mr. Bromley who has charge of the state shooting preserves in this part of the state and has charge of other field work pertaining to game, will tell about this work. Clayton Searrains, in charge of the distribution of game, will represent the conservation department.

SCHOOL FOR SKATERS: 7

By IRVING JAFFEE
Undeclared Olympic Speed Skating Champion

SPEED SKATING

How to Finish a Race: Always watch the leaders and skate for front line positions as you near the final stage of a race. Keep calm and skate steadily to conserve energy. Save your speed for the finishing spurt. Unclasp arms from back and use vigorous swinging motion at final stages of race for all of the extra speed you can command. Stroke ice steadily and firmly and skate in straight lines. Don't sway from side to side.

Remember, never turn your head to look behind at competitors at the final part of a race. This frequently causes a stumble and loss of speed or a fall.

Never stop trying until you are sure you have completely passed the finish line. The race is never over until you have reached that point.

Tomorrow: Developing stick handling and shots for hockey.

McLaughry Plans No New Changes

New Dartmouth Coach Quits Brown

Hanover, N. H., Jan. 15 (AP).—Deormand (Tuss) McLaughry predicted today that no radical changes would be made in Dartmouth's football system when he goes on from where his friend, Earl (Red) Blaik, left off with the Indians.

When McLaughry, who quit what probably was a lifetime berth at Brown University after 15 years' service accepted Dartmouth's bid, he pointed out that his methods had much in common with Blaik's.

McLaughry, highly recommended to Dartmouth authorities by Blaik when the latter, along with all of his assistants, departed for West Point, is believed to have signed a three-year contract. Only a few weeks ago, Brown attempted to re-engage him for another five-year term.

Among the candidates McLaughry will welcome here in a few weeks will be his youngest son, Bob, rated as the most promising of last season's freshmen backs. Another son, John, became one of the east's greatest blocking backs while playing under his father at Brown from 1937-39.

Henie in Revue

Miss Sonja Henie will introduce several new musical skating interpretations in her Hollywood Ice Revue of 1941 which will open an eight nights' engagement at Madison Square Garden January 20. In "The Legend of the Pearl," "Intermezzo" and "Invitation to the Dance" the former figure skating champion and motion picture star gives marvelous expression to many classics of the musical album. Sonja also skates to the strains of modern music, including her ever-popular execution of the tango, in which she is aided by a new skating partner, Eugene Mikeler.

Forty-two per cent of the revenues of all governmental units in 1939 were collected from taxes which didn't even exist 40 years ago, according to the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey.

New Dartmouth Coach

De Ormond (Tuss) McLaughry (above), football coach at Brown University, has been engaged to succeed Earl Blaik as coach of the Dartmouth College eleven. It was announced at Hanover, N. H., by William H. McCarter, Dartmouth director of athletics. Blaik recently accepted an offer to coach football at West Point.

New Officers of Cornell Hose

Name Grunenwald For His 5th Term As Cornell Leader

Charles Grunenwald, president of the Board of Fire Commissioners, was re-elected president for his fifth term of Cornell Hose Company at the annual meeting of the fire company held in the engine house on Abel street Tuesday evening, which was followed by the annual banquet and dance in the Eichler Hotel on Railroad avenue.

The other officers elected by Cornell Hose were: John Maley, vice president; Kenneth DuBois, foreman; first assistant foreman, Edward Albrecht, Jr.; second assistant foreman, Edward DuBois; Martin H. Hagele, recording secretary; Alderman Herbert Wolff, financial secretary and treasurer.

John J. Costello was elected delegate to the Kingston Fire Fund Association, and Harry Kingsburg, delegate to the New York State Firemen's Association with Kenneth DuBois as alternate. Walter Bruckholtz was elected trustee for three years and Daniel Barnhart was chosen custodian.

Following the serving of a fine menu at the hotel President Grunenwald said he would break a precedent of five years standing in asking Mayor C. J. Heiselman, who was present as a guest of the firemen, to address the audience.

The mayor said that these were dark days and that in his opinion the country was steadily drifting toward war, but he hoped that his opinion was wrong. He said that in England at the present time when a young man volunteers to enlist he is given the choice of joining the army, navy or fire department.

This showed, said the mayor, the importance that firemen played in present day warfare. He said that while this country was hoping that it would not be forced into the war, yet national defense measures were being taken throughout the nation.

In Kingston, said the mayor, a local defense council was at work. He said that the water department of the city was preparing plans to take water from both the Esopus and Rondout creeks in case the present water system was interrupted.

Mayor Heiselman called attention to the fact that the local defense council was also preparing plans covering sewerage, gas and water main so that the city would not be without such service in case of bombing.

The mayor cited several improvements planned for the city's fire system this year which included the appointment of a deputy fire chief from the ranks of the paid firemen; the appointment of three paid firemen from civil service lists; and a new truck for Cornell Hose.

Fred L. Van Deusen, widely known local magician, entertained the firemen and their friends with feats of magic, and dancing followed the program.

DEATHS LAST NIGHT

Dr. Paul N. Leech

Chicago—Dr. Paul Nicholas Leech, 51, secretary of the American Medical Association's Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry.

Men Are Electrocut

Columbus, O., Jan. 15 (AP)—Anthony Cirasole, 29, and Joseph Dimarco, 23, both of Brooklyn, N. Y., were electrocuted last night at Ohio penitentiary for the holding slaying of Edward J. Erdody, Cleveland furrier, a year ago. With lips tightly shut and each carrying a crucifix, which they kissed before sitting in the electric chair, the two men went to their deaths without a murmur.

The scholastic average of Columbia University's 1940 football team was much higher during the first term of the 1939-40 school year than that of the student body as a whole.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Unlucky

Terre Haute, Ind.—B. C. Roberts of Terre Haute started to drive to Clinton, where he is employed, but turned around and started back because of sleet on the road.

It was a mistake. An automobile pulling a trailer hit Roberts' car. He received a cut over one temple and a hand injury.

As he tried to get his damaged car off the highway another automobile struck it. No additional injuries.

Roberts climbed out of his battered vehicle and was knocked down and out by a hit-run driver. First aid put him back on his feet, and he finally got home.

Traveler

Brantford, Ont.—A hitch-hiking hen from Redwood, Miss., has arrived in Brantford.

When a freight car of lumber sealed at Redwood was opened, the hen, a white-rock, bustled out with much squawking and flapping of wings.

Inside the car, workmen found two eggs—frozen solid.

Canada's cold weather didn't bother the hen, though. She chased all over the railway yards before workmen finally cooped her up.

Expansion

Olympia, Wash.—The 24½-acre tract Mrs. Laura Crites bought years ago proved a mighty good investment.

Her property boundary—the Chualar river—moved. When she sold out, the tract had grown to 41½ acres.

Plainville, Tex.—Name Orval Boyd to a jury and he serves!

The Hale county farmer, selected for jury duty, drove 25 miles to spend the night at home and early to do the chores before returning to court.

He stumbled in the barn and fractured his leg.

Mrs. Boyd drove him to Plainville. A physician set his leg and he entered the jury box on time—and on crutches.

Wide-Awake City

Loup City, Neb.—Ever have your alarm clock get you out of bed two hours early?

That happened to all of Loup City when the telephone operator turned on the usual 7 a. m. whistle at 5 a. m.

People got up, looked around, went back for two more hours' sleep.

First Year Blues

Lincoln, Neb.—Apparently in college as well as in marriage, "the first year is the hardest."

To prove it, University of Nebraska records for the second semester last year show the median grade for freshman courses was 79, for advanced courses it was 82.

Not Inaugurated

Forrest Donnell (above), Missouri Republican, asked the Missouri state supreme court for a writ of mandamus ordering Morris Osburn, Democratic speaker of the house, to announce returns of the November 5 election and declare him elected governor. Donnell defeated Laurence McDaniel, Democrat, for the office but his inauguration was prevented by the Democrat-controlled legislature's refusal to certify his election.

T. W. Flemming Is Bank Officer

Pardee Resigns; National Ulster Holds Elections

At the annual election of the First National Bank, held Tuesday afternoon, Thomas W. Flemming was elected vice president to succeed Addison D. Pardee, who had resigned. Mr. Pardee, however, retains his position on the board of directors of the bank. The other officers of the bank are Edward Coykendall, president; Louis Beers, second vice president and cashier, and William J. C. Buddenhagen, trust officer.

The election of ice president in the downtown bank was the only change in the personnel of the officers elected by the National Banks of the city.

Edward H. Remmert was re-elected president of the National Ulster County Bank of Kingston yesterday afternoon at a meeting held following the election of directors at a stockholders' meeting. Other officers also re-elected are: Harold F. King, first vice president; Raphael Cohen, second vice president; Chauncey Lane, third vice president. Charles Snyder was re-named cashier.

Work is being completed on a ladies' room at the left of the main entrance to the bank. The small room is being fitted out with a desk, comfortable chairs and furnishings for use of women customers of the bank who may desire use of a private room. Coupon booths for safe deposit users are also maintained at the rear of the bank.

Directors re-named are: Edward H. Remmert, Raphael Cohen, Joseph M. Fowler, Harry Hynes, Chauncey Lane, Doug S. Meyers, William Byrne, Howard A. Lewis, Morris Samter, Harold F. King, Clifford Cole, Raymond Garrahan and William A. Warren.

Frederick Coykendall

Heads Columbia Trustees

Re-election of Frederick Coykendall as chairman of the board of trustees of Columbia University, is announced by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the University.

Mr. Coykendall, who is the 19th incumbent of the chairmanship since Columbia was founded in 1754, as King's College by grant of George II of England, enters upon his ninth term. In 1933 he succeeded General William Barclay Parsons, who died in 1932 after 15 years of service.

The first chairman was James Duane, who took office in 1787 after the Revolution had brought about the reorganization of the institution as Columbia College.

General Parsons was chairman longer than any of his predecessors save Hamilton Fish, whose term extended over 34 years, from 1859 to 1893.

Mr. Coykendall, who is director of the Columbia University Press, has been actively engaged in the rebuilding of the University for more than a quarter of a century. He was elected alumni trustee in 1916, and upon expiration of his term in 1922 became life trustee. He has been president of the Columbia College Alumni Association and vice president of the Alumni Federation.

Mr. Coykendall is a native of Kingston, and was graduated from Columbia College in 1895. He received the degree of master of arts and civil engineer from the University in 1897.

Truck Top Is Bent

Shortly after 6 o'clock Tuesday evening a truck owned by Jacob Levine of Philadelphia, Pa., collided with the overhead railroad bridge on East Union street. The truck top was bent as a result of the impact, according to a police report.

Take It Standing Up

"I needed $130"

"I needed $130 pronto, but was afraid that a chauffeur like myself might not be able to get a loan for that much—or that the payments would be too big for me to handle."

"However I got to talking with one of the fellows at the garage who had a loan at The Personal Finance Company. He told me I probably could get the cash OK, and that between eight and nine dollars a month would be all I'd have to repay on $130."

"I stopped in a nearby Personal office that afternoon and got the loan without any trouble."
